Inquiry Centers
On Ferry Pilot in Fatal Crash

Reported by Robert McDougal

The investigation of a legend of a ferry crash that killed 10 people and injured scores more focused yesterday on the pilot, who officials said had been drinking when he flew the vessel on a course that some say was too steep for the vessel and caused the vessel to capsize.

In addition, investigators said they were questioning whether, other than the pilot, anyone knew he was to give him authority to fly the boat.

City regulators require that both the captain and at least one licensed pilot be on board during the flight. In investigations, the pilot was found to have been drinking heavily.

BOSTON, Oct. 16 Ñ An independent U.S. senator who supported the war, issued a joint statement with one of the countries that Washington considered in the Security Council chamber creating a constitution and demo-

The senate is questioning whether the pilot had been drinking.

The senators had met with Senator Richard G. Lugar of Indiana, who is the chair of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The senator said he was surprised by the reaction to the senator’s statement, which was released yesterday.

The senator added that he was sur-pried the war had been won and that he was not aware of any such agency.

“Sanctions have been placed on
Iraq,” the senator said. “But I am not sure how to justify them.”

The senator added that he was sur-
pried the war had been won and that he was not aware of any such agency.

“Sanctions have been placed on
Iraq,” the senator said. “But I am not
sure how to justify them.”

The senator added that he was sur-
pried the war had been won and that he was not aware of any such agency.

“Sanctions have been placed on
Iraq,” the senator said. “But I am not
sure how to justify them.”

The senator added that he was sur-
pried the war had been won and that he was not aware of any such agency.

“Sanctions have been placed on
Iraq,” the senator said. “But I am not
sure how to justify them.”

The senator added that he was sur-
pried the war had been won and that he was not aware of any such agency.

“Sanctions have been placed on
Iraq,” the senator said. “But I am not
sure how to justify them.”

The senator added that he was sur-
pried the war had been won and that he was not aware of any such agency.

“Sanctions have been placed on
Iraq,” the senator said. “But I am not
sure how to justify them.”

The senator added that he was sur-
pried the war had been won and that he was not aware of any such agency.

“Sanctions have been placed on
Iraq,” the senator said. “But I am not
sure how to justify them.”

The senator added that he was sur-
pried the war had been won and that he was not aware of any such agency.

“Sanctions have been placed on
Iraq,” the senator said. “But I am not
sure how to justify them.”

The senator added that he was sur-
pried the war had been won and that he was not aware of any such agency.

“Sanctions have been placed on
Iraq,” the senator said. “But I am not
sure how to justify them.”

The senator added that he was sur-
pried the war had been won and that he was not aware of any such agency.

“Sanctions have been placed on
Iraq,” the senator said. “But I am not
sure how to justify them.”

The senator added that he was sur-
pried the war had been won and that he was not aware of any such agency.

“Sanctions have been placed on
Iraq,” the senator said. “But I am not
sure how to justify them.”

The senator added that he was surpri...